PARENT TEACHER ASS'N BOX SUPPER A SUCCESS

The April meeting of the Parent Teacher Association was held on Monday evening at the Brick School House. About fifty members and friends were present.

After the opening exercises the committee for the evening, Miss Edna Page, Mrs. Helen Berry, and Mrs. Leroy Bennett presented the following excellent program: Medley of Old Songs by Mrs. Lawrence Lord and Earle Eldridge. These clever comedians were in the snappy costumes of the gay nineties and gave a hilarious group of half a dozen old songs and encores.

The problem of discipline in the home and school was discussed by Mrs. Hugh Thurston speaking from a mother's viewpoint, and Prof. P. F. Crane from that of a teacher. Various members responded to invitations from the Chair and an animated debate on the subject of co-operation in discipline followed.

Mrs. Paul C. Thurston gave vivid word pictures of a recent trip to Washington. By her enthusiastic descriptions she succeeded in presenting places and personalities with great clearness.

The program was followed by refreshments in the form of lunch boxes provided by the ladies and fruit punch and confections provided by the committee. Fred B. Merrill was at home in the role of Auctioneer and by super-salesmanship succeeded in selling twenty boxes to eight purchasers. Any deficiency in numbers among the gentlemen was more than offset by their generosity, and the sum of about five dollars was added to the P. T. treasury.

The program committee for the May meeting is Mrs. F. O. Robertson, Miss Hermione Hutchins and Mrs. Charles Gorman.

FOREST FIRE SEASON NEAR

With the approach of another fire season, Forest Commissioner Neil L. Violette, again asks for the full support and cooperation of the public to help reduce the number of forest fires. For over 300 years the forests of Maine have proved to be her most valuable asset and heritage. This year, as never before, it is the chief concern of the Maine Forest Service and the general public to help prevent and protect Maine's 15,000,000 acres of timberland from fire.

An examination of last year's forestry department record shows that there were 321 forest fires which burned over 42,825 acres of timberland. Out of the number of fires, 71 were caused by careless brush burning which swept over 22,020 acres. This means that over 50 per cent of the total forest land burned last year was due to this one cause.

As a result of this surprising fact it has been decided to start a vigorous campaign against this one careless cause of forest fires.

This campaign is not limited to Maine alone, but to all the other New England States. Governor Brann of Maine is to give his hearty endorsement to this drive and in other states the Governors may issue proclamations or endorsements. Newspaper articles and editorials are to be written, lectures given before the various service clubs and organizations, a series of broadcasts will be made and circulars or pamphlets are to be printed and ready for free distribution. The Maine Forest Service has just released a new circular with a strong appeal to prevent forest fires caused by careless brush burning; in addition, it contains a few interesting cuts of the right and wrong way to burn brush and suggestions of What To Do and What Not To Do. It is hoped that this campaign will greatly reduce this careless cause of forest fires. Fire is controllable, 99 cases out of 100, before it starts.

ANDERSON PLAYERS GIVEN GOOD RECEPTION

Cloudy skies, a little rain, a little snow! It's April! Be that as it was, those who do not intend to let a "spell of weather" interfere with an evening of enjoyment were at Odeon Hall last Friday at 8 o'clock p. m. and "Mary Made Some Marmalade."

The Anderson players are always happily anticipated. Their last presentation was of the same excellence as all their past performances have been. Each character was cleverly portrayed.

BRINCK SURPRISED ON WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Brinck were tendered a surprise party at the I. O. O. F. hall Monday evening by members of Sunset Rebekah Lodge and Odd Fellows, in honor of their 25th wedding anniversary.

Mr. Brinck was asked to go to the hall to help do some work, which he obligingly consented to do, and upon his arrival was greatly surprised to find a company of 25 friends who shouted congratulations. Later, Mrs. Brinck had been invited by a friend to attend the Parent Teacher Association meeting and on their way was enticed into the I. O. O. F. hall on the pretense of finding a lost pocketbook, and there met the same receptions as had her husband shortly before.

After the effects of the surprise were subdued games were enjoyed, after which Mr. and Mrs. Brinck were asked to follow a string which led to a gift of Community silver from the Rebekahs and Odd Fellows. Refreshments, a special feature being a beautifully decorated cake with the date of their marriage, was enjoyed. The hall was beautifully decorated.

Mr. and Mrs. Brinck were married at Berlin, N. H., April 11, 1908, and for three years after their marriage lived at Newry, then came to Bethel where they have made their home. There are three children: Evelyn, who does secretarial work in Lewiston, and twin daughters, Marion and Muriel, students at Gould Academy.

Mrs. Brinck was born in Quincy, Mass., the daughter of Felix and Sophie White. Mr. Brinck was born in New York and is the son of Mrs. Ella Brown. He is employed in the Thurston mill.

Funeral services were held at the Crosby home Tuesday afternoon. Rev. L. A. Edwards officiating. There were many beautiful flowers. The bearers were Harold Lurvey, Roger Bartlett, Tom and Jesse Vashaw. Burial was in the family lot at Norway.

SOUTH WOODSTOCK

Sunday, April 9th.—The sky was rather overcast during the morning but cleared away in early afternoon showing us that "every cloud has a silver lining. Behind the cloud the sun is shining."

Harry Silver has purchased the late Aaron Cox place and plans to move his family there as soon as the present tenants can vacate.

Quite a lot of rain fell during the past week causing the snow to disappear like dew before the sun. Lots of bare ground in evidence here at South Woodstock.

Kenneth Benson of Benson Brothers, drove his horses home Sunday morning. Yarding from Black Mountain to the landing was completed April 6th.

Melford Perham, helper on one of Benson Brothers' trucks for the past year, has recently purchased a large truck and will engage in heavy truck service.

Quite a number from South Woodstock attended the Pomona Grange held at Oxford, April 4th. The day was not of the best, otherwise a larger delegation would have been in attendance.

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Bryant and daughter, June, of Bryant Pond, recently visited with his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Davis of this place.

Several men with three ton truck loads of hay from the town of Dexter were selling hay here recently. One of the big trucks tipped over in Perkins Valley, causing damage to the sides of hay, which was later sold at a big discount.

Mrs. Edward Koskela accidentally received a severe fall when passing through a doorway carrying a tray of dishes from the dining room. The fall necessitated several days in bed, both knees being badly bruised and so painful a physician was called. He found both knees badly dislocated.

Frank Andrews, who has been "rather under the weather," is feeling better, and he was out making neighborly calls Sunday and stated

Two strangers appeared in our yard Saturday, April 8. After sitting in their auto for an hour or less one of them came to the door and asked permission to further park their car for the afternoon. They went away. I did not see them return, but the car has gone now. I noted the number. It was N. H. 32-844.

Willing Workers

Some not feeling well, others rather too tired to entertain, it was decided it would do everyone more good to go somewhere than for anyone to remain at home. Well, that sounds good. Let's we all go up to the church and have our entertaining there for our next meeting which fall on Wednesday, April 5th. Okay Okay. Now for the cats which always follow. What shall we have? Oh, meat anything. Oh, no, something different! "I have it. Give a guess," said one. "Can't what is it?" Hotted corn with plenty of rich milk. Harrah, Harrah! Just the "line" How much corn shall we need? One of the sisters strong on vitamins says, "I can eat a quart and it needs a quart of rich milk to balance the corn." Well, more might be said. They all went. You just bet. Hotted corn aplenty and lots and lots of rich milk off the top of the can. The best time ever. That's the best way when Spring lassitude appears. Let's we all go together somewhere.

TWO-MINUTE SERMON

(By REV. GEORGE HENRY)

WHY PREACH?

I once met a preacher, one of those broad minded religionists who don't know what they believe nor why. He said, "Henry, you are too narrow. Now I could preach as acceptably in your pulpit as in my own." I did not contradict him; in fact, I couldn't for I don't know how acceptably he fills his own pulpit. One thing I do know: the man without a definite, clear-cut, positive message has no business preaching at all. A man must stand four-square upon what to him is truth or we don't want to hear him preach. I have men in the pulpit who reminded me of a "blind man in a dark cellar hunting for a black cat that wasn't there." Such a preacher is a hiatus in a hole; the cube route of nothing. We respect a man who disagrees with us exactly as much as though he did agree with us. Men as sincere and intelligent as we are believe something else, and, if they have the courage of their convictions, all is well. But deliver us from the man who does not stand for anything in particular, and tries to preach about it. In a case like that, why preach? "Give me of your faith, my friend; I have doubts enough of my own." A good rule is not to discuss publicly a question that one can not answer, at least to one's own satisfaction. If in doubt the preacher should seek the answer in the Word of God, and this is the final authority where the Christian religion is concerned.

Vigoro the complete plant food!

How to Use for FISH BEAUTY in LAWN and GARDEN

They are vital food for a rich green lawn, on which children can safely play, are essential to home beauty, and they add so much to the pleasure and comfort of the whole family.

You can have a beautiful lawn and garden easily and economically if you use Vigoro to supply the plant food they must have. With Vigoro you keep and enjoy the rich beauty of your lawn, flowers, shrubs and trees, which, without an available supply of plant food, will fail. With a small investment in Vigoro you can supply the food your plants need, and save the expense of tearing up your lawn and garden and starting over again.

Vigoro, the Square Meal for Plants, supplies in the right proportion the plant food elements which must come from the soil. You can't depend on manure and bone meal, because they are deficient in plant food value. This year get enough Vigoro for everything you grow, and enjoy rich lawn and garden beauty.

WITH THE POETS

THE DEACON'S MASTERPIECE, OR THE WONDERFUL ONE-HOSS SHAY

Oliver Wendell Holmes

Have you heard of the wonderful one-hoss shay,
That was built in such a logical way
It ran a hundred years to a day,
And then, of a sudden, it—ah, but stay, I'll tell you what happened without delay,
Scaring the parson into fits,
Frightening people out of their wits—

Have you ever heard of that, I say?

Seventeen hundred and fifty-five,
Georgius Secundus was then alive,
—Snuffly old drone from the German hive.
That 'was the year when Lisbon-town Saw the earth open and gulp her down
And Braddock's army was done so brown,
Left without a scalp to its crown.
It was on the terrible Earthquake
day
That the Deacon finished the one-loss shay.

Now in the building of chaises, I tell you what,
There is always somewhere a weakest spot,
In hub, tire, felloe, in spring or thill,
In panel, or crossbar, or floor, or
sill,
In screw, bolt, thoroughbrace—
lurking still,
Find it somewhere you must and
sill,
Above or below, or within or without,
And that's the reason, beyond a
doubt,
That a chaise breaks down, but doesn't wear out.

But the Deacon swore (as Deacons
do,
With an "I dew vum" or an "I tell yeon")
He would build one shay to beat the town,
"N' the county, 'n' all the kentry
raoun";
It should be so built that it could n't break down;
"Fur," said the Deacon, "it's mighty plain
That the weakest place mus' stan'
the strain;
"N' the way 't fix it, uz I maintain,
is only jest.
"T' make that place uz strong uz
the rest."

So the Deacon inquired of the village folk
Where he could find the strongest oak,
That couldn't be split, nor bent, nor broke—
That was for spokes, and floor, and sills;
He sent for lancewood to make the thills;
The crossbars were ash, from the
straightest trees,
The panels of white-wood, that cuts like cheese,
But larks like iron for things like these;
The hubs of logs from the "Better's ellum,"—
Last of its timber,—they couldn't sell 'em.

Never an axe had seen their chips,
And the wedges flew from between their lips,
Their blunt-ends frizzled like celery-tips;
Saw and prop-iron, bolt and screw,
Spring, tire, axle, and inch-pin
too,
Steel of the finest, bright and blue;
Thoroughbrace blason-skin, thick
and wide;
Found in the pit when the tanner
died,
That was the way he "put her through."
"There!" said the Deacon, "Naow she'll dew!"

Do! I tell you, I rather guess
She was a wonder, and nothing less!
Colt's grew horsea, beards turned gray,
Deacon and deaconess dropped away,
Children and grandchildren—where were they?
But there stood the stout old one-
hoss shay,
As fresh as on Lisbon-earthquake
day!
Eighteen Hundred; it came and found
The Deacon's masterpiece strong
and sound,
Eighteen hundred increased by ten;
—"Hahnsum kerridge" they called it then.
Eighteen hundred and twenty came—
Running as usual; much the same.
Thirty and forty at last arrive,
And then came fifty and fifty-five.

Little of all we value here
Wakes on the morn of its hundredth year Without both feeling and looking queer,
In fact, there's nothing that keeps
its youth,
So far as I know, but a tree and truth.
This is a moral that runs at large;
Take it. You're welcome. No extra charge.

First of November,—the earthquake
day
There are traces of age in the one-
hoss shay,
A general flavor of mild decay,
But nothing local, as one might say.
There couldn't be,—for the Dea-con's art
Had made it so like in every part
That there wasn't a chance for one to start.

For the wheels were just as strong as the thills,
And the floor was just as strong as
the sills,
And the panels just as strong as
the floor,
And the whipple-tree neither less
nor more,
And the back crossbar as strong as
the fore,
And spring and axle and hub encore.
And yet, as a whole, it is past a
doubt,
In another hour it will be worn
out!

First of November, 'Fifty-five!
This morning the parson takes a drive
Now, small boys, get out of the way!
Here comes the wonderful one-hoss
shay,
Drawn by a rat-tailed, awe-necked bay.
"Huddup!" said the parson,—Off went they.

There will be a four o'clock vesper service in Easter Sunday at the Universalist church, under the auspices of the Sunday School.

The parson was working his Sunday's text.

Had got to the fifthly, and stopped perplexed.

At what the Mooses was coming next.

All at once the horse stood still, 'Close by the meet'n'-house on the hill.

First a shiver, and then a thrill— Then something decidedly like a spill.

And the parson was sitting upon a rock, At half-past nine by the meet'n'-house clock.

Just the hour of the earthquake shock! What do you think the parson found,

When he got up and stared around? The poor old chaise in a heap or mound.

As if it had been to the mill and ground! You see, of course, if you're not a dunce,

How it went to pieces all at once. All at once and nothing lost, Just as bubbles do when they burst.

End of the wonderful one-hoss shay. Logic is logic. That's all I say.

The children will be grouped in an Easter lily chorus song, and readings and special music. The public is cordially invited.

Eugene Penley has returned to Orono after a week's vacation with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Penley.

Mr. and Mrs. Addison C. Saunders
Tuesday evening. This was gotten Russell to select a gift, and upon entering found a gathering of about forty people assembled. Mr. and

GOULD ACADEMY NOTES

Dr. J. D. Sharman of Fryeburg spoke at chapel exercises Wednesday morning. His subject, "Funda-mentals of Healthful Living," contained much important material and was presented in an especially interesting manner.

In chapel Friday morning, Dr.
Hanscom announced the gift of a new academy building from Mr.
Bingham, and spoke briefly regarding the plans for an immediate start on the new structure.

During spare periods for the past few days, Coach Anderson and various groups of boys have been attacking the huge snow drift on the athletic field. A few more concentrated attacks on the part of these snow shovelers plus a warm rain followed by a bit of sunshine, and the field may be in condition for the first home game of the season on April 22d.

Coach Anderson has two squads of about thirty baseball players working out daily in the gymnasium.

Declamations were given last Friday by Dorothy Foster, Roma
Warren, Arthur Gibbs, Elizabeth
Goudy, Muriel Brinck, Charles
Smith, Sylvia Merrill, Alonzo Chapman, Marion Brinck, Mary Sanborn, and Margaret Hamlin.

Mr. Bailey has purchased a new Ford V-8, and Mr. Myers has traded his Chevrolet for the Ford previously owned by Mr. Bailey.

Homer Gregory, ex-'30, a junior at Dartmouth College, was a visitor on the campus last Sunday.

Henry Tice, Gould '31, who has been recuperating at the home of Dr. Twaddle, returned to his studies at Springfield College, Wednesday.

Over thirty-five track candidates are reporting daily to Coach Fossett. Of this number the only letter men from last year's team are Captain Trafton Bartlett, Norris
Brown, and Douglas Daniels. Early season information seems to point to the high jump as one of the strongest events on the Gould state with the following jumpers working out daily: Norman Hale, former member of the Berlin high track team; Stuart Lane, member of last year's Mattanawook Academy track team; and Traf. Bartlett and Robert King, high jumpers for Gould last season. Stanley Alton who represented Gould in this event last year, and who showed considerable promise of being a point gatherer, has decided not to come out for the high jump this Spring.

"Porterhouse" Steak

It is said that "porterhouse" steak took its name from a small hotel in Sandusky, Ohio, called the Porter house. In 1847, Charles Dickens visited that hotel and partook of its steaks. He is said to have spread its fame through the United States, referring to it as the steak served in the Porter house. Leading hotels and cafes were quick to adopt the name for their best steaks.

Term "O. K." First Used in Tennessee Court Records

The first known use of the term O. K. appears in the court records of Sumner county, Tennessee, October 6, 1790. On that date Andrew Jackson "proved a bill of sale from Hugh McCarty to Gasper Mansker, for a negro man, which was O. K." James Parton, in his biography of Jackson, suggests that what appeared to be O. K. in the record may really have been a poorly penned O. R., which was the abbreviation for "Ordered Recorded." Apparently O. K. came into general use after Jackson was elected President in 1828. Jackson's illiteracy was one of the chief criticisms of his opponents during the next campaign; John Smith seems to have originated the story that Jackson endorsed his papers O. K., under the impression that it was the abbreviation of "All Correct," which he, according to the story, spelled "Oll Korreet." Some dictionaries accept this explanation of the phrase; others say it is probably from the Choctaw "okeh," which is pronounced o-kay, and defined as "It is so and in no other way." This theory was accepted by Woodrow Wilson who, as President, used "okeh" in approving papers. There is little evidence to support this theory. Another theory derives O. K. from the town of Aux Cayes (pronounced okay), from which the best tobacco and rum were imported in Colonial times.

English Sparrows Brought to the U. S. Years Ago

The earliest introduction of the English sparrow into this country was in 1850, when 50 pairs were set free in Brooklyn, N. Y. Others were soon released at other points. It being the common belief that these birds would protect the foliage of shade trees by feeding upon caterpillars that, in turn, liked to feed on the leaves of the trees. Unfortunately, now that the English sparrow is quite at home all over the United States, and, in fact, much of America, most authorities agree that it does much more harm than good. Feeding on seeds, buds, fruits and otherwise making itself a destructive garden visitor, distributing vermin and disease germs, making unsightly nests in inconvenient places, and driving away gentler, more desirable birds, are some of the habits which have injured the popularity of this bird.

THINKING HOMEMAKERS MAKE TASKS EASIER

The heaviest loads in a depression period fall on women who are homemakers. Someone has observed, and an added burden is given the farm homemaker who is doing increased canning, storing, mending, and what not to save cash expenditure.

Stress of the times requires homemakers to plan their time effectively and safeguard their strength, says Edna M. Cobb, home management specialist for the Extension Service. The prosaic thrice daily task of dish washing may be eased by giving thought to equipment, she says. Continuing she adds:

"A tray, either a hand one or one mounted on wheels, saves many steps in clearing the table. Even the top of the roasting pan will serve if you have nothing else, for of all the needless steps that are taken, those used in clearing the table by taking two or three dishes at a time and then coming back for more are the most wasteful, especially if there is a large family and dishes are numerous. Another little inexpensive dish washing gadget is the rubber plate scraper that so many women are using to scrape their dishes before they put them into the dish water. A little more time to start with, perhaps, but it saves time in the end, because it takes less time for the actual washing and it is pleasanter, for even dish washing may be a pleasant job."

"Another way in which some time may be saved at the dish washing hour is by having a storage place in the kitchen for the serving dishes like the vegetable dishes, the platters, cereal dishes, fruit plates, possibly cups and saucers (provided the beverages are served from the kitchen) instead of storing them in the dining room, bringing them out to the kitchen and then back again. The logical place for this storage closet is, of course, at the left of the sink, as the dish washing process is done from right to left, but almost any place in the kitchen would be more convenient to store them than the dining room."

Wilbur D. Spencer, State Insurance Commissioner stated last week that owing to the "accessibility of intoxicants . . . there is nothing in the casualty field to indicate improvement in the health and accident classifications. If intoxicants are to be readily accessible to the public the accident frequency will be enhanced to an appreciable degree, as a larger percentage of industrial and highway casualties are due to such excesses. There is no doubt also that the mental and physical conditions of the laboring classes will be affected by a return to liquor mindedness."

The payroll of 517 Maine establishments was 7.4% greater in February than in January. The town of Winslow seems to have made some progress toward the solution of its pauper problem. Last week when the officials attempted to move two families to the country from places on which the town was paying rent, the families refused, saying that they would rather give up town aid than to live in the country.
